

FALL 2014 ELEMENTARY MUSIC WORKSHOP

Maximizing Music Learning: Effective Classroom Management Skills for the Elementary Music Class

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 9 AM - NOON
Texas A&M University-Commerce ~ Rayburn Student Center

Do you wish you had more instruction time with your students?? Do you find yourself wasting instruction time dealing with classroom management issues? Come learn how to maximize your music learning and fun by implementing effective classroom strategies that will keep students on task, engaged, and enthused! Workshop participants will not only participate in lively discussion, but they will also learn hands-on how to organize and manage an active classroom.

Alicia Arruda is an elementary music educator in her ninth year of teaching. For the past eight years, she has taught at Thurgood Marshall Elementary, a Title I school in Richardson ISD. Ms. Arruda earned a bachelor's degree in Music from Liberty University and a master's degree in Music Education from SMU. She has completed all three levels of Orff-Schulwerk. Ms. Arruda has served as a mentor teacher for many years to prospective, new, and veteran teachers. In 2011, she was selected as RISD's Elementary Teacher of the Year.
