Want an advanced degree?

You're closer than you think.

Our faculty will answer your questions about master's and doctoral programs for curriculum and instruction, counseling and social work.

Achieve more with an A&M-Commerce Graduate Degree in Curriculum & Instruction, Counseling, Or Social Work!

The Master's of Education degree (MEd) in Curriculum and Instruction is for certified teachers interested in the improvement of classroom teaching. The major in curriculum and instruction prepares graduates to improve student engagement and to also qualify for leadership positions.

The master's and doctoral degrees in counseling prepare students to meet the educational requirements for licensure in Texas as a licensed professional counselor.

Our master's degree in social work also prepares students to meet the educational needs of advanced level social workers. The program is accredited by the Council on Social Work Education (CSWE). All MSW graduates are eligible to sit for the State of Texas LMSW licensure testing.
