

New Student Orientation 2012

New Student Orientation provides an opportunity for our new incoming students and their families to make the connections and learn about the resources Texas A&M University- Commerce has available to help in their transition to college. At this event, we are hosting an Information Fair to focus on Academic and Student Affairs as well as showcase our student organizations and clubs. Please see the following details and complete the form below to participate in this exciting event!

We need you to help us welcome the Incoming Class of 2012!
