
#BIKEFORCHANGE

One World Center is a research non-profit organization offering a 9 month program inviting people from all walks of life to join forces and travel together to explore the causes and consequences of Climate Change, while collecting and sharing information and stories about its effects on people and life on Earth.

You will bike through Central America together with a team of climate enthusiasts just like yourself! Get closer to the environment, communities and the people to find out what they are facing, how they are adapting to the new circumstances and what we can learn from them. During the travel, you will exchange experiences and information, connect communities and create channels of reliable information.

WE GO THE DISTANCE! COME WITH US!
