What

The Disability Training Network's Summer Institute (SI) is a professional development opportunity designed for Texas A&M University System faculty and staff who interact with students with disabilities.

DTN is providing hotel accommodations for the nights of June 27th and 28th. Embassy Suites will honor a discounted rate of $129 per night the three days before and after the SI, on both single and double occupancy rooms, based on availability. SI participants are encouraged to share hotel and travel accommodations with others from their university and will be reimbursed for these expenses at the state rates allowed. Spaces for the SI are limited.

Why

- Gain insight on the personal experiences of students with disabilities attending our campuses
- Hear about the changes in the ADAAA and how they affect your interactions with students
- Discover how adaptive technology maybe used on your campus
- Learn how to recognize and work with many different disabilities
- Find out how Faculty Learning Communities are making a difference
- Share your experiences and knowledge with fellow faculty, staff and administration throughout the University System

How

All participants will need to complete an online application. DTN will make all hotel reservations and email participants their confirmation number. Flight reservations should be made by the participants. Please retain all receipts to submit for reimbursement after the SI. Contact Shannon Alexander at 979-845-5432 or shannona@tamu.edu with any questions or accommodation needs.
